Project Summary

La Consejería de Educación, Cultura y Deportes from Castilla la Mancha, in collaboration with 27 Vocational Training educational institutions in the region, present the project VET: GOING ON, which aims to provide students the impetus to develop the economic fabric and the business competitiveness of the region, through quality training among young people, helping them with their future employability.

This project counts on, at all times, the quality and strength of the internal organization and, therefore, the technical team of the Consortium have developed a coherent proposal which is affordable. For this reason, the coordinator has taken into account the main economic activities of Castilla la Mancha and at the same time the different schools that offer Professional Training in the sectors most demanded by the companies in the territory. Thus, this project covers the following professional families:

- Administration and management
- Industrial food
- Trade and Marketing
- Social and cultural services to the community
- Transport and maintenance of vehicles
- Hospitality and tourism
- Physical activities and sports
- Health
- Wood, furniture and cork
- Electricity and electronics
- Installation and maintenance
- Mechanical manufacturing
- Chemistry
- Beauty style
- Information technology and communications
- Manufacturing of mechanics

VET: GOING ON focuses on 54 students from one of the 27 Vocational Training schools from Castilla la Mancha, that are part of the Consortium. Internships will be validated as part of the formative cycle or can be done once students are recently qualified (not exceeding 12 months after their qualification). They will be mobilities ErasmusPro, of 90 days duration in two different groups departing in March and September 2019. The distribution of scholarships by countries will be:

- Ireland: 8 grants
- United Kingdom: 8 grants
- France: 7 grants
- Portugal: 14 grants
- Italy: 16 grants

All participants will receive language preparation through the online course OLS, which the European Commission will make available. In addition, before the departure, participants will receive a social and culture training organized by the members of the Consortium.

Based on the social and economic context of Castilla la Mancha, the specific needs detected of the group to which this project is directed, the professional fields on which it is based and the general objective proposed, the Consortium has established the following specific objectives:

Increase the knowledge of a second European language that allows students to be more competitive in the labour market and facilitate their geographic mobility.

- To know how a EU company functions, favoring the entrepreneurial spirit.
- To consolidate a practical training that reinforces the knowledge acquired by the young people during their studies.
- Promote the improvement of the teaching-learning relationship and the academic-professional training.
- To promote training experiences in order to prepare young people in an international context.
- Specialization in the field of their sector.
- Promote the autonomy and responsibility of the students.
- Internationalization of consortium members through inter-country collaboration.
- Promote intercultural education as a basis for quality European training.
- Improve the social skills of young people.
- To promote mutual knowledge about academic training in the various EU countries.
- Develop values such as solidarity, tolerance and respect among young people.
- Promote European recognition of their training.
- Promote the multiplier effect of mobility experiences.
- To encourage the economic development of the community through better preparation of its young people.

In addition, VET: GOING ON will have the support and commitment of collaborating agencies in the countries of destination, in many cases, with extensive experience in training programs of this nature.

VET: GOING ON is the result of the Consortium's commitment to promoting training and employment among the young people from Castilla la Mancha that are in vocational training in the aforementioned families. That is why implementing this project implies meeting the objectives and achieving very positive results, both at a regional level and for the participants, who will also be able to complete their training itineraries and acquire professional experience and learn a second language.
